One and two bedroom apartments
Ternary Place has been thoughtfully designed to feel unique and close-knit.
An Introduction

Ternary Place is a boutique collection of one and two bedroom apartments in Ealing. Surrounded by public parks, excellent transport links and leafy residential streets, its location appeals to those who want a home that lets them make the most of the city.

Once you step through the front gate, it’s clear that innovative, sensitive design is the focal point of this development. This is apparent in the buildings themselves, and extends to the development as a whole. Trees and planters surround the three buildings and the properties benefit from winter gardens, making the pace of the city feel far away.
Behind the trees is a design-led collection of apartments.
GET TO KNOW EALING

Ealing is the ideal urban oasis; a well-connected village with excellent transport connections. Conveniently located in zone 3 and well linked to the city, it also has lots of green spaces, offering the best of both worlds.

Ealing Common is a short walk away with its large open spaces, perfect for a Sunday walk or run, which will take you past avenues of grand horse chestnut trees and the occasional mature oak. Plus, discover some of the best restaurants, cafés and bars outside central London.

The area also has a fantastic arts heritage that’s still celebrated today. Ealing Studios is the birthplace of many British cinema classics, while Ealing Art College, now the Ealing campus for the University of West London, draws aspiring creatives from around the world.

Ealing is home to some of the best local festivals in London. All through the summer, residents are entertained with a range of music, theatre and comedy.
The culinary scene always promises something new and exciting.

On Saturdays, Acton Market turns to arts and crafts and is great to have a peruse around.
The green spaces and leisure facilities nearby will make you forget that central London is still within easy reach.

Ealing Farmers’ Market is the place to go for organic produce.
Boutique shops, bars and pubs are all within the local vicinity.

Discover some of the best restaurants, cafes and bars outside central London.
GETTING OUT AND ABOUT

Connectivity

With both tube and Overground stations nearby, Ealing is one of the best-connected areas of London, and it’s set to improve further with the Elizabeth Line (Crossrail) opening in 2019. This will mean you can reach Heathrow in 15 minutes and Canary Wharf in under half an hour.

North Ealing tube is just around the corner from Ternary Place, with Ealing Broadway and Ealing Common stations only a short walk away.

Plenty of local buses run into central, west and south London. If you drive, not only do you benefit from the parking spaces at Ternary Place, you’ll also be able to make the most of the quick links to the A40, A4 and M4.

If you’re travelling internationally, Heathrow is less than thirty minutes away by London Underground.

Ternary Place has a fluid design, with curved ends and a sinuous shape to reflect the architecture of the area with a contemporary twist. The buildings are crafted from pale pink brick with bronze metal touches adding subtle accents.

The borders of the development are tree-lined, sheltering the properties from the hustle and bustle. Living in Relph Court, you benefit from exclusive use of a communal garden, so you can enjoy the warmer months outside.

The detail-oriented approach to design is what lends the grounds their charm. Metal accents on the building are mirrored by the metal trim of the raised planters, adding touches of elegance.

In addition, each apartment has a winter garden, providing a flexible indoor/outdoor space to use all year round.
The rooms are spacious and light, and have been designed to provide a neutral setting to add your personal touches.
Textures and materials have been carefully chosen to complement the surrounding greenery.
Soft colouring and natural finishes make each room relaxing and flexible.
